

NATURALISTIC LANDSCAPING AT UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO:
THE BOB DORNEY GARDEN

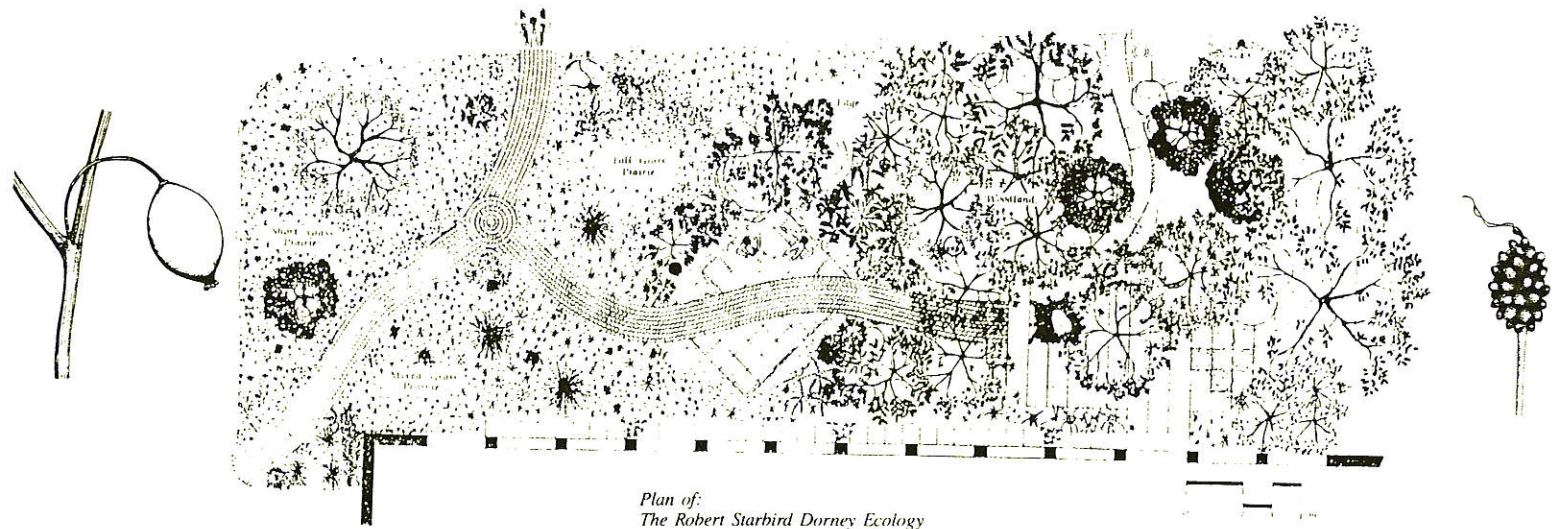

TALK WITH SLIDES BY LARRY LAMB

FRIDAY 2:00 pm, December 3, 1993, Room 107, Zoology Dept. 25 Harbord St. Toronto

Details: 978-5246

Naturalistic landscaping and ecological restoration try to emulate the processes of Nature. This approach to landscaping avoids commercial pesticides, herbicides and fertilizers and is very low in water and labour input. This could be the future model for landscaping at the University of Toronto.

Larry Lamb is Director of the Ecology Lab, Faculty of Environmental Studies, University of Waterloo. He is a member of the FON Nature Reserves Committee and President of the Canadian Wildflower Society. As well he is a long time practitioner of tall grass native prairie gardening.

Plan of:
The Robert Starbird Dorney Ecology
Garden at The University of Waterloo,
Waterloo, Ontario.
